EDUCATION.

[From the Daily Reno Gazette, Nov. 1.]

The cause of education is necessarily one of the most important and imperative of all the questions of the day. It has ever been recognized as one of the corner-stones of civilization, and a necessary element in the true progress and development of nations. The framers of our republic, the great and grand ones who brought the Union into existence and shaped its immortal destinies, perceived this in a remarkable degree. They knew that no republic could live in ignorance. They knew that liberty would be smothered in its embraces. They knew that freedom would languish and die in its presence, and therefore they made the most generous donations of land and money for the proper establishment of our public school system.

The older States of the East have brought their public schools to an admirable condition of perfection. They have filled them with cultured teachers. They have provided them with all the necessary means for developing the minds of the children. They aid them by legislation. But chiefly do they have them under the most experienced Superintendents. They regard schools without a proper Superintendent of Public Instruction as an army without a leader, as a disorderly, disorganized mob, and not a disciplined and effective force. If all this is true of the East, if the school system of the East requires energetic and experienced superintendents, our schools in the West require them to a thousand fold greater degree. We are now in our formation period. Our existence is but just beginning. Our State and our schools are but in their infancy. We are but showing the promise of what we are yet to be.

In no State can mining ever be looked upon as a permanent industry. In no State can a population which is a mining people be looked upon as a settled population. From the necessities of the case it must be a changing, shifting element, moving from place to place as old mines become exhausted and new ones are developed elsewhere.

If we would have this State remain a permanent star in the Union of States we must have a more settled and lasting industry than mining. We dare not trust to its changing, fluctuating conditions. We must have an industry so settled, so permanent, as to induce families to come and establish homes with us. In other words, we must turn our attention to that industry—mining—which of all is the only true source of wealth—farming. Yet in no State of the Union is the first promise of success in this branch of labor so unpromising as here. Our valleys are barren and waterless; our soil, while rich to an amazing degree, is unproductive. We have water in abundance, yet it is locked in lakes in the stony embrace of the granite hills. What are we to do? But one thing remains to be done, and that is to begin and carry out a gigantic scheme of irrigation. Our mountain lakes are inexhaustible. Our valleys are unsurpassed in fertility. Yet, as they now are, they are both useless. We must break down these natural barriers and bring these two forces together. We must mingle the waters of the mountains with the soil of the valleys. We must irrigate. But how can this be done? Can it be done with the pick and drill, the spade and shovel? This can only be accomplished by an educated and intelligent people. Brute force alone cannot do it. This force will only give way before the advance of intellect. To children now in our schools we must look for this. This present generation has the mining bug too strongly in its bonnet to turn to this. The coming generation must accomplish it. To our schools, then, we must turn. We must carefully and thoroughly endow them; and above all we must see that they are under the wisest and best supervision. It is unfortunately thought by many that the office of County Superintendent of Public Instruction is a useless office. A greater mistake could hardly be made. In many respects it is the most important office on the county list. It is more important than Judge, Sheriff, Treasurer, or any of the others; for, educate our children in all the essential branches of learning and true manhood and womanhood, and these other matters will largely regulate themselves.

The office of County Superintendent of Public Instruction should be filled by one possessing a liberal education, true culture, a large experience; by one who is earnest and zealous in all matters of education, and by one who possesses such personal worth as to make him fit to be the leader of education in this county. All these qualifications are possessed in an eminent degree by W. R. Jenvey, the Republic-can nominee for this office. He has received his education from some of the finest scholars and best educators of our land. He has had an ample experience in teaching. He is earnest and enthusiastic in the cause of education. He is filled with a sense of responsibility of this office. He is a conscientious, hard-working man. He throws his whole soul into anything he undertakes. He will discharge the duties of this office without fear or favor, without prejudice or partiality. He will do his best to aid the present efficient corps of teachers to fulfill their high trust. We therefore think that no greater good could be done our public schools than to poll the largest possible majority for Mr. Jenvey. This should not be a political office. Mr. Jenvey is in no sense of the word a politician. While holding strong convictions and living according to them, he still recognizes the cause of education as being distinct from politics and as being higher than politics. Let ever voter, then, who would have a thoroughly capable man at the head of our public schools vote for W. R. Jenvey.

OUR SHERIFF.

In selecting gentlemen to fill the various county offices voters should not forget the importance attached to that of Sheriff. Too many are apt to think that the only qualification necessary to perform the duties of Sheriff is sufficient physical ability to make an arrest and nerve to guard prisoners confined in the county jail. A great mistake. Something more than this is required of the man who properly fills that office. To properly conduct the affairs of that office requires much careful business tact and ability. He is the legal custodian of the county property in and about the Court House, and is intrusted with the collection of all licenses as well as all fees pertaining to that office. J. F. Emmett, the Republican nominee for Sheriff, is a gentleman of culture, a business man, and in all respects eminently qualified to perform the various and sometimes intricate duties pertaining to that office. We bespeak for him the hearty support of every Republican in the county, to which, by every consideration he is justly entitled.

A CONGRATULATORY LETTER.

Among the many congratulatory letters received by C. C. Powning after his nomination was the following:

GRASS VALLEY, CALIF., Oct. 9, 1892.

Hon. C. C. Powning: Dear Sir:—I have just received news that you had received the nomination for Congress. That you had in the Convention an honorable opponent. I have also your public record since you left Grass Valley. Many of your old acquaintances here, who have sons, in order to incite them as to their future, have mentioned you as an example; energy, persistence, all were accorded to you. I with pride agreed with those who were speaking of you. Truly, I am glad of your success, and congratulate you upon your very probable association with the statesmen of this great nation.

Yours Respectfully,
W. H. MITCHELL.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If there is a man, woman or child in Washoe county that does not know Pete Comstock, the Republican candidate for County Clerk, their residence in the county is of but short duration. If there are any who do not know him to be the prince of good fellows and entirely capable to fill the position, and one of the most pleasant and accommodating gentlemen that ever graced that office, they do not know the man.

The burning of the Park Street Theater in New York last Monday was something of a set-back to Mrs. Laptry, the English actress. She had just finished packing the wardrobe in which she was to appear in the evening, and was in the very act of sending it to the theater when the fire broke out.

The Silver State, a Democratic paper published at Winnemucca, the home of Judge Leonard, says the Judge has made no political speeches in the campaign, as the office to which he seeks a re-election is not a political one. He relies for support from the people, not from the corporations.

Patrick Egan, late Treasurer of the Land League, has written a reply to Lady Florence Dixie's inquiries regarding the Land League funds, maintaining that the accounts are strictly accurate and are vouched for by an eminent firm of accountants.

One of our estimable young ladies still in her teens, said the other evening to a persistent suitor for a dance: "No, thank you, I never waltz. Ma says if any of the young men want to hug me they must do it on the sly; she won't have them musing my dress up and leaving finger marks on my white waist so long as she does the washing and has to support me—Tehama Tocsin."

A FEARFUL TRAGEDY.

Three Children Murdered By Their Mother—The Most Shocking Tragedy of Modern Times.

New York, October 31.

Mrs. Sarah Seguin, aged thirty-six, wife of Dr. Edward O. Seguin, the noted specialist on diseases of the brain killed her three young children this afternoon and then killed herself. There is no other cause known for the horrible tragedy than the insanity of the mother. The children: Edward D., aged six years; John Van Dwyne, aged five years, and Jeannette, aged four years—were all shot through the head and instantly killed. The mother's death was as sudden as theirs.

A frightful feature of the tragedy is the manner of the murder. Mrs. Seguin took the children to the empty spare room at the top of the five-story house in which the family lived, during the absence of her husband and when the servants were engaged in the basement, and locked herself in with them. The servants believed they had gone out for a walk. What happened from then will never be known, but when Dr. Amedon, Mrs. Seguin's brother, called at 5 o'clock his suspicions were aroused by the long absence of the family, and he made a search of the house. The mother and children were found dead, all shot through the head. The children's hands were tied behind their backs with whip-cord. They were blindfolded with handkerchiefs, and, from all appearances, must have been playing at blindman's buff with their executioner. They had been dead at least an hour and a half, and were quite cold when discovered.

Three pistols were found in the room, all of heavy caliber, and all had been used. Mrs. Seguin had been dispondent from physical causes for some time, but she had shown no evidence of insanity. She was a small, slim woman, and of nervous temperament. Her domestic life was very happy and there was no family trouble. Dr. Seguin returned home about seven o'clock, and upon hearing of the dreadful news was utterly prostrated. He is in a state of mental distress and under the care of physicians.

Dr. Seguin is a noted specialist in cases of insanity. His father was equally so. His wife was the daughter of a Massachusetts farmer. The couple moved in the best society. The family lived in a five-story, brown stone front, English basement house, which was elegantly furnished. The room in which the tragedy took place is on the fifth floor, and is scarcely ever used by the family. The servants in the house noticed that during the day Mrs. Seguin was in a moody condition, which she had been in for several weeks, and which her brother termed "the blues." About 11 he called upon her and she said she did not feel well, and had written to Dr. Henry M. Kaiser who had been invited to dine with the family, to defer his visit. This note was given to her brother to send. He took it jokingly and said they would all enjoy themselves. Dr. Amedon called on his sister at 3 o'clock, and was told that she had gone out for a walk. He returned at 5, but Mrs. Seguin had not yet returned. The hall boy accidentally mentioned that the door of the spare room was locked and the key gone. A suspicion seized the Dr. that Mrs. Seguin had gone to Central Park and drowned herself and the children. He could not explain why he thought this. He immediately went up stairs and burst the door open. A horrible sight met his eyes. Almost in the middle of the room lay the dead body of the eldest boy Edward in a pool of blood. Partly in a closet lay Mrs. Seguin, grasping in her right hand a large pearl handled revolver. Inside the closet lay the boy John and the girl Jeannette.

There could be no doubt that the mother had taken the children into the room on the pretense of playing blind man's buff. She had led the two young-est into the closet, and locked them in while she murdered the oldest boy. The pistol with which he was shot was a target practice weapon, with a barrel eleven inches long. It lay beside him and the bullet lay on the floor. It had passed through his head. The murderous mother then proceeded to the closet, and with a heavy thirty-two caliber revolver, with which she afterwards blew out her own brains, shot the other two children.

The police and coroner were notified at once. Nothing in the room was found to explain the motive for the crime. She held the weapon close to her victims' heads, for the handkerchiefs on their faces were powdered. The face of the little girl wore a look of innocent surprise that cut more deeply than any other feature of the dreadful deed. On a table lay a box of cartridges and a third pistol.

Dr. Seguin, when he returned, was taken to his office and physicians summoned. He acted as though his faculties were gone. He caught sight of the pictures of the children on the wall and broke into a horrible wailing cry that wrung the hearts of the listeners. The physicians fear he will lose his reason. None of the servants heard any noise. Sudden insanity is the only motive known for the deed. Mrs. Seguin was neatly dressed. The children were lovely little things, and all the family she had.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

BREVITIES

The boys are all going down to Wadsworth next Saturday.

The Republicans had a jolly old time at Verdi, Tuesday night.

The ladies of Wadsworth will give a calico party to-morrow night.

Senator Jones spoke to an immense audience at Carson last night.

Mr. Irvin Ayres and family departed last night for their Oakland home.

The floating debt of Washoe county at this time only amounts to $900.

W. W. Hobart has returned from California and is now doing the Comstock.

There are but two prisoners in the county jail—Mrs. Boynton and a Chinaman.

Replenish your woodpile and get your roof in order for surely a storm is brewing.

The case of the State against B. F. Small was yesterday postponed for the term, which carries the matter over until January.

State and county taxes will be delinquent on the 20th, when ten per cent. will be added—let no one forget this important fact.

James W. Mayle, a San Francisco Mining Stock operator, has filed an application in bankruptcy with liabilities at $40,000, assets nothing.

A pair of elegant single-stone diamond earrings, set on onyx, worth $250, price $132, at Uncle Harris', 221 Kearney street.

Treasurer Boyd informs us that State and county taxes are coming in much faster than they did at this time last year, and he takes it as a sign that people are more prosperous and better prepared to pay than last year.

The jury in the Boynton arson case brought in a verdict of guilty, and the defendant was ordered to appear for sentence on next Thursday, November 9th. In the mean time Judge Webster will prepare a motion in arrest of judgment and a statement on motion for a new trial.

We had the pleasure yesterday of meeting Mr. Wiley Russell, of Washoe City, who was so badly injured early last Summer by a fall from Hon. P. N. Marker's dune. Mr. Russell has almost recovered his physical integrity, although his two wrists are stiffened and comparatively useless. Mr. Russell has recovered the facial expression which he formerly bore to a great extent, although his jaw bone was sadly fractured and has not reunited. We are glad to see our old friend so prosperous, happy and hopeful. He is one of old Washoe's best citizens.

The N. & O. Railroad.

The Sierra Valley Leader says: "The Nevada and Oregon Railroad has suspended further operations for the Winter. The road is completed to Oneida and is graded about two miles further. Mr. Balch, the President of the company, is about to depart for the East to raise the necessary funds to complete the road. It is the intention to rush matters in the Spring, and the branch running through Sierra Valley to Quincy will be first constructed. This will strike a large timber country, which will at once be opened, and afford immediate traffic for the new road. This will improve times in the valley, and the opening of this new timber region may seriously effect the lumbermen of the Truckee basin. It will be advantageous to this valley, as then we will have no difficulty in getting out of the valley in the Winter, and at the same time all those in the lower part of the valley will have quick and sure transportation for their produce, and a good market for the same. We will then get our mail via Reno, and it is already contemplated the immediate changing of the route from Truckee, and the mail brought from the present terminus of the road, by way of the Summit. We hope to get a daily mail in event of this change being made."

A Rebellious Steer.

A dispatch from Winnemucca states that on Tuesday, Frank D. Sweetzer, a large cattle owner in this State and California, was seriously injured here last evening. While assisting in loading beef cattle for shipment a steer kicked him in the face, shattering the cheek bone. For a while it was feared that he would lose an eye, but the doctors are now satisfied that he will not.

Now is Your Chance.

Miss M. A. Harney is selling out her entire stock at reduced rates. She accordingly invites all the ladies to come and examine her stock and assures them they may obtain all millinery and fancy goods at a great bargain, as she must dispose of her present stock.

How Pine Forests are Reproduced.

No doubt many Nevadans have noticed in their tours through the mountains the great number of pine cones lying on the ground, not one of which shows any exposed seed. Nature, generally so prolific in reproduction, apparently fails in this case to afford an opportunity for the seed from the cones to emerge and reproduce itself. Yet even in this there is a wise Providence. A remarkable statement was made recently before a scientific body in London—the statement given as on the authority of Mr. Veitch, the well known author on "Conifers"—that the cones of many of the species on the Pacific Coast never open and permit the seed to escape unless opened by a forest fire, when they fall out and replenish the burned waste. "They hang on the trees for many generations—even for thirty years." It has often been adduced that the frequent forest fires on the Sierras were a curse to the great pine forests flourishing there. Yet it now seems that the hand of evolution acts in the matter and produces needed effects in sympathy with unavoidable causes. Long before man appeared on the Sierras lightning set fire to whole groves of pine trees, and were it not for this generous requirement of Mother Nature we of to-day would not behold the magnificent forests of the Sierra Nevada. What has looked to be an accident has really proved a blessing in disguise. For one tree burned hundreds of pine cones are enabled to open and release the seeds for fresh trees.

The Old Refrigerator House.

At one time this promised to be one of the best of Reno's coming industries. Unfortunately too many partnerships, combined with private greed, completely killed the enterprise. The fine buildings to-day are a sad warning of business vastness. Still the buildings, costing many thousand dollars, are not a total loss. They are utilized by several of Reno's butchers, and made to assist the town industry. Cattle, hogs and sheep are daily slaughtered there for the benefit of various butchers and business men, and this concentration saves quite an amount of money. Still it is, in a business point of view, a thing to be regretted that Reno cannot support a refrigerating company. Surely this town can support one as well as Winnemucca, and with less expense. If the property cannot be used as a receptacle for beef, it might be for hogs or sheep, on either of which money might be made. Let the experiment be tried.

Grand Ball and Excursion.

To-morrow (Friday) evening, a special train will leave the N. & O. depot at 5 P. M., returning next morning at 5 A. M. Mr. Evans' many friends and all desirous of enjoying a fine fast trip on the narrow gauge and having a jolly time at the Antelope House, are cordially invited. Mr. Evans being an old pioneer, and noted for his hospitality, a pleasant time is guaranteed. The prettiest girls of Long and Sierra Valleys will be on hand, reinforced by a number of Reno's handsomest ladies and buxom maidens. The time schedule of the train has been so arranged that the excursion party will leave for Antelope towards evening, and be in Reno next morning by seven o'clock, thus enabling business men, if desirable, to be on hand for business as usual. Fine music has been engaged and an elegant supper will be served. The excursion and ball will be the most enjoyable affair of the season.

Concert To-Night.

There was a good crowd at the Congregational Church last evening, and one and all were pleasantly entertained. The following is the programme for this evening:

The condition of ex-Governor Thom- as A. Hendricks is still regarded as critical.

Seven anarchists have been arrested at Lyons, France, upon a charge of murder, and two charged with the clan- destine manufacture of dynamite.

In the Scoville insanity case, Louis Scoville, son of Mrs. Scoville, testified that he believed his mother insane be- cause she persisted in the notion she could write books and lecture success- fully, and because she ran a boarding house when she was losing money. No better evidence of insanity could well have been asked for.

COUNTY RECORDER.

One of the most deserving candidates, as well as one of the most capable, is T. F. Laycock, candidate for Recorder. He has always been a consistent, faith- ful Republican, and an upright citizen. He served his country for four long years as a soldier in the late war, and will carry to his grave honorable scars re- ceived at the front while gallantly fight- ing for his country and the cause of liberty, and now holds an honorable discharge from the service received at the close of that terrible conflict. For ability and honesty of purpose he is the peer of any man that ever held that position in this county, and is entitled to and ought to receive the support of every Republican in this county. Re- publicans should consider well before deciding to vote against the nominee of their party, who is an honorable gentle- man, deserving, and in every way capa- ble of filling the position.
